

Casual Job Opportunity Dietitian

About the role

We are looking for a dietitian to join our team in both a community and clinical setting. You will be responsible for designing and facilitating nutrition programs, recipe development and providing clinical advice in private practice. No two days will be the same!

Essential Criteria

- Current membership with Dietitian's Australia
- Excellent communication skills
- Commitment to ongoing self-education
- Willingness to work after hours (late evenings, weekends)
- Strong ability to use initiative and confident working independently
- Must enjoy day to day variety and working with all ages
- Valid police clearance, working with children clearance and covid certificate

Desirable

- Completed post-graduate training in diabetes and Monash University IBS course (or willingness to complete)

Bonus perks

- 1:1 mentoring and supervision from an experienced dietitian
- Opportunity to grow within a rapidly expanding multi-disciplinary team
- Nourish is committed to employing people from diverse backgrounds and providing a workplace free from discrimination and harassment

How to apply

- Address your application to Rebecca Greco
- Application must include a cover letter (max. one page), which outlines why you are applying for this role and your suitability with reference to the role description and essential and desirable criteria
- Current, tailored resume (max. two pages) including the name and contact details of your two most recent places of employment
- Applicants must be available for immediate start

Please email your cover letter addressing the above criteria and resume to nourish@nourishadl.com.au

Applications are assessed as received
